How To Get Married in goa

Goa is part of the Republic of India and is subject to Indian Laws. Every couple who is considering to getting married in Goa must comply with these laws:

In accordance with Law No. 10f 1974 concerning marriages in Goa (Article 2(1): "a marriage is legitimate if it has been performed according to the laws of the respective religious beliefs of the parties concerned."

RELIGIOUS CEREMONY

All couples who marry in Goa must declare a religion. Agnosticism and Atheism are not recognized. The Civil Registry Office can record marriages of persons of Moslem, Hindu, Buddhist, Christian-Protestant and Christian-Catholic faiths. Marriage partners must have the same religions. Otherwise one partner must make a written declaration of change of religion. Based on Indian government regulation, a religious ceremony must be performed before a civil ceremony. For couples who are already married in their country, but wish to exchange their vows or even renew their vows, the couple can choose a religious ceremony.

BLESSING CEREMONY

If you prefer a Wedding Blessing only, we can organise one for you. This will not however be a legal ceremony and therefore will not require any legal procedures. Advance notice is paramount in order to make the necessary arrangement with a local priest.

WEDDING LEGALITY

SOUND CURFEW

All amplified entertainment that is outside of the resort must conclude no later than 10:00 PM. The resort will determine the appropriate level of sound amplification from 10:00 PM onwards. This is in accordance with local ordinances and for the respect of other resort guests.
